Initially, it established a loyal clientele by providing a service that was not available - reliable and fast shipment. Its delivery system created Netflix's

- A. viable mission.
- B. competitive advantage.
- C. tactical innovation.
- D. core benefit.
- E. sales orientation.

172. Men's Wearhouse (MW) caters to the man who doesn't necessarily enjoy shopping. Its stores are in free-standing locations (not inside the mall) so that customers can get in and out quickly.

Additionally, the MW targets the budget-conscious consumer with suit prices ranging from $150 to $850. The location of its stores and its pricing strategy both are part of MW's

- A. competitive advantage.
- B. core values.
- C. core benefit proposition.
- D. marketing edge.
- E. viable mission.

Lands' End Ad

173. Consider the Lands' End ad above. Lands' End communicates a remarkable commitment to its _____ with these unconditional words: "We accept any return, for any reason. Guaranteed. Period."

- A. competitive advantage
- B. core values
- C. core benefit proposition
- D. customers
- E. mission statement

174. Although now a part of Sears, Lands' End was primarily known as a catalog retailer. This means that traditional department stores, mass merchandisers, specialty shops, and other catalog retailers are considered to be Lands' End's

- A. consideration set.
- B. industry.
- C. competitors.
- D. target market.
- E. stakeholders.

175. All of the following retailers are principal or direct competitors to Lands' End EXCEPT:

- A. Amazon.com
- B. Sears
- C. L.L. Bean
- D. Target
- E. Pierre Cardin

176. Two commonly used techniques to aid managers with important decisions for setting a direction and allocating resources include _____ and _____ analysis strategies.

- A. micromarketing; macromarketing
- B. business portfolio; diversification
- C. investment; divestment
- D. dashboards; metrics
- E. subjective; objective

177. The Boston Consulting Group (BCG) uses _____ to quantify performance measures and growth targets to analyze its clients' SBUs as though they were a collection of separate investments.

- A. target marketing
- B. synergy analysis
- C. market-product grids
- D. business portfolio analysis
- E. diversification analysis

178. The Boston Consulting Group (BCG) uses business portfolio analysis to quantify performance measures and growth targets to analyze its clients' strategic business units (SBUs)

- A. as if each were a separate investment.
- B. to establish their worth to society at large.
- C. to determine which would be suited for a SWOT analysis.
- D. to determine which units are candidates for diversification analysis.
- E. to determine which units can be divided into smaller, tactical business units (TBUs).

179. Business portfolio analysis refers to

- A. a tool that helps a firm search for growth opportunities from among current and new markets as well as current and new products.
- B. a technique that managers use to graphically track their firm's strategic business units (SBUs) as though they were a single expense in order to identify cost-cutting measures.
- C. a technique that managers use to quantify performance measures and growth targets to analyze their firm's strategic business units (SBUs) as though they were a collection of separate investments.
- D. an analysis that uses percentage points of market share as the common basis of comparison to allocate marketing resources effectively for different product lines within the same firm.
- E. a tool that seeks opportunities by finding the optimum balance between marketing efficiencies versus R&D-manufacturing efficiencies.

~~180~~ A technique that managers use to categorize strategic business units (SBUs) as question marks, stars, cash cows, or dogs is referred to as a(n)

- A. investment (ROI) analysis.
- B. synergy analysis.
- C. marketing audit.
- D. diversification analysis.
- E. business portfolio analysis.

181. Figure 2-4 shown above represents which type of analysis?

- A. SWOT analysis
- B. synergy analysis
- C. marketing audit
- D. diversification analysis
- E. business portfolio analysis

182. The purpose of business portfolio analysis is to

- A. add or delete product line and brand extensions.
- B. search for growth opportunities from among current and new markets as well as current and new products.
- C. alter a product's characteristic, such as its quality, performance, or appearance, to increase its value to customers and increase sales.
- D. determine the appeal of each SBU or offering and then determine the amount of cash each should receive.
- E. seek opportunities by finding the optimum balance between marketing efficiencies versus R&D-manufacturing efficiencies.

183. In the Boston Consulting Group (BCG) model for analysis of a firm's strategic business units, or SBUs, the vertical axis reflects_____.

- A. market growth rate
- B. marketing efficiencies
- C. industry attractiveness
- D. market segment size
- E. relative market share

184. The Boston Consulting Group (BCG) business portfolio analysis requires an organization to locate the position for each of its strategic business units (SBUs) on a growth-share matrix. The vertical axis of this matrix indicates

- A. the annual rate of growth of the firm's largest competitor.
- B. the relative dollar ($) market share of the largest competitor.
- C. the annual rate of growth of the SBU's industry.
- D. the relative unit (#) market share of the largest competitor.
- E. the annual rate of growth of the firm itself.

185. The Boston Consulting Group (BCG) business portfolio analysis requires an organization to locate the position for each of its strategic business units (SBUs) on a growth-share matrix. The horizontal axis of this matrix indicates

- A. the annual rate of growth of the SBU's industry.
- B. the relative dollar ($) market share of the largest competitor.
- C. the annual rate of growth of the firm's largest competitor.
- D. the relative unit (#) market share of the smallest competitor.
- E. the annual rate of growth of the firm itself.

186. In the Boston Consulting Group (BCG) model for analysis of a firm's strategic business units, or SBUs, the horizontal axis reflects_____.

- A. market growth rate
- B. marketing efficiencies
- C. industry attractiveness
- D. market segment size
- E. relative market share

187. In a BCG growth-share matrix, a relative market share of 10x at the left end of the scale on its horizontal axis means that the SBU has 10 times the share of its largest competitor, whereas a relative market share of 0.1x at the right end of the scale on its horizontal axis means that

- A. the SBU has only 10 percent of the share of its average competitor.
- B. the SBU has 100 percent of the share of its largest competitor.
- C. the growth rate between the SBU and the next largest competitor is actually identical.
- D. the SBU has only 10 percent of the share of its largest competitor.
- E. the industry growth rate is declining.

188. All of the following are names the BCG has given to describe the four quadrants in its growth-share matrix EXCEPT:

- A. dogs.
- B. stars.
- C. question marks.
- D. cash cows.
- E. hedgehogs.

189. The BCG has given specific names and descriptions to the four resulting quadrants in its growth-share matrix based on the amount of cash they generate for or require from the organization. Cash cows are SBUs that are classified as having

- A. high market growth rates and high relative market shares.
- B. low market growth rates but high relative market shares.
- C. low market growth rates and low relative market shares.
- D. high market growth rates but low relative market shares.
- E. medium market growth rates and medium relative market shares.

190. SBUs with dominant shares of slow-growth markets that provide cash to cover the organization's overhead and to invest in other SBUs are referred to as _____.

- A. cash cows
- B. stars
- C. question marks
- D. dogs
- E. hedgehogs

191. The BCG has given specific names and descriptions to the four resulting quadrants in its growth-share matrix based on the amount of cash they generate for or require from the organization. Cash cows are located in which quadrant of the BCG growth-share matrix?

- A. upper left quadrant
- B. upper right quadrant
- C. center of the four quadrants
- D. lower right quadrant
- E. lower left quadrant

192. Several years ago, Black & Decker purchased General Electric's small appliances product line. Black & Decker purchased the line because it needed the cash generated from a product line that had a dominant market share in the slow-growth small appliance industry. GE's small appliances product line is most likely a _____ for Black & Decker.

- A. dog
- B. cash cow
- C. question mark
- D. star
- E. hedgehog

193. The BCG has given specific names and descriptions to the four resulting quadrants in its growth-share matrix based on the amount of cash they generate for or require from the organization. Stars are SBUs that are classified as having

- A. high market growth rates and high relative market shares.
- B. low market growth rates but high relative market shares.
- C. low market growth rates and low relative market shares.
- D. high market growth rates but low relative market shares.
- E. medium market growth rates and medium relative market shares.

194. SBUs with a high share of high-growth markets that may not generate enough cash to support their own demanding needs for future growth are referred to as_____.

- A. dogs
- B. cash cows
- C. question marks
- D. stars
- E. hedgehogs

195. The BCG has given specific names and descriptions to the four resulting quadrants in its growth-share matrix based on the amount of cash they generate for or require from the organization. Stars are located in which quadrant of the BCG growth-share matrix?

- A. upper left quadrant
- B. upper right quadrant
- C. center of the four quadrants
- E. lower left quadrant

196. Solarcom is a 30-year-old information technology company that owns several subsidiaries. One of its subsidiaries is Atlantix Global Systems, which is one of the leading wholesalers for refurbished computer equipment that has a large share of an industry that is growing worldwide. According to the BCG business portfolio analysis framework, Atlantix Global would most likely be classified as a _____.

- A. dog
- B. cash cow
- C. question mark
- D. hedgehog
- E. star

197. SBUs with a low share of high-growth markets that may require large cash injections of cash just to maintain market share are referred to as _____.

- A. dogs
- B. cash cows
- C. question marks
- D. stars
- E. hedgehogs

198. The BCG has given specific names and descriptions to the four resulting quadrants in its growth-share matrix based on the amount of cash they generate for or require from the organization. Question marks are SBUs that are classified as having

- A. high market growth rates and high relative market shares.
- B. low market growth rates but high relative market shares.
- C. low market growth rates and low relative market shares.
- D. high market growth rates but low relative market shares.
- E. medium market growth rates and medium relative market shares.

199. The BCG has given specific names and descriptions to the four resulting quadrants in its growth-share matrix based on the amount of cash they generate for or require from the organization. Question marks are located in which quadrant of the BCG growth-share matrix?

- A. upper left quadrant
- B. upper right quadrant
- C. center of the four quadrants
- D. lower right quadrant
- E. lower left quadrant

200. SBUs with a low share of slow-growth markets that may generate enough cash to sustain themselves but do not hold the promise of ever becoming real winners for the organization are referred to as _____.

- A. dogs
- B. cash cows
- C. stars
- D. question marks
- E. hedgehogs

201. The BCG has given specific names and descriptions to the four resulting quadrants in its growth-share matrix based on the amount of cash they generate for or require from the organization. Dogs are SBUs that are classified as having

- A. high market growth rates and high relative market shares.
- B. low market growth rates but high relative market shares.
- C. low market growth rates and low relative market shares.
- D. high market growth rates but low relative market shares.
- E. medium market growth rates and medium relative market shares.

202. The BCG has given specific names and descriptions to the four resulting quadrants in its growth-share matrix based on the amount of cash they generate for or require from the organization.

Dogs are located in which quadrant of the BCG growth-share matrix?

- A. upper left quadrant
- B. upper right quadrant
- C. center of the four quadrants
- D. lower right quadrant
- E. lower left quadrant

203. In its business portfolio analysis, an organization's SBUs often start as _____ and eventually become _____.

- A. dogs; question marks
- B. question marks; stars
- C. stars; question marks
- D. stars; dogs
- E. question marks; dogs

204. While hybrid vehicles are very fuel efficient, they are also expensive to purchase. Still, hybrid vehicles sales have a compound annual growth rate of 88.6% in recent years. Several years ago, the Honda Motor Company unveiled the hybrid version of the Honda Civic. Sales of the Civic eventually surpassed those of the Toyota Prius, making it the number one hybrid car in the U.S. For years, Honda has experienced tremendous success with their Accords; these Honda cars are the top-selling automobiles in the U.S. Where would the Honda Civic (hybrid version) and the Honda Accord fall in the BCG business portfolio analysis matrix?

- A. The hybrid Civic is a star; the Accord is a cash cow.
- B. The hybrid Civic is a cash cow; the Accord is a star.
- C. Due to the overwhelming success of Honda cars, both the Accord and the hybrid Civic are cash cows.
- D. The hybrid Civic is a dog; the Accord is a cash cow.
- E. The hybrid Civic is a dog; the Accord is a star.

205. In Figure 2-4 shown above, SBUs found in quadrant A would be called _____.

- A. cash cows
- B. question marks
- C. dogs
- D. hedgehogs
- E. stars

206. In Figure 2-4 shown above, SBUs found in quadrant B would be called _____.

- A. cash cows
- B. stars
- C. question marks
- D. dogs
- E. hedgehogs

207. In Figure 2-4 shown above, SBUs found in quadrant C would be called _____.

- A. cash cows
- B. stars
- C. question marks
- D. dogs
- E. hedgehogs

208. In Figure 2-4 shown above, SBUs found in quadrant D would be called _____.

- A. cash cows
- B. stars
- C. question marks
- D. dogs
- E. hedgehogs

209. To move an SBU from its current position on a BCG business portfolio analysis, a manager should concentrate mostly on

- A. influencing the relative market share.
- B. enhancing employee motivation to move a low valued SBU to a higher one.
- C. adding a variety of new SBUs that will force out older ones.
- D. influencing the market growth rate.
- E. simplifying its offerings by removing features.

210. Because an organization has limited influence on market growth rate, its main alternative for moving an SBU on the portfolio analysis matrix is to try to change its relative market share. The most likely way for a company to turn a question mark into a star rather than a dog is to

- A. divert funds to other SBUs.
- B. reduce advertising for it.
- C. inject cash into it.
- D. reduce the feature set for it.
- E. decrease the market growth rate.

211. With the arrival of tablet devices, such as Apple's iPad in 2010, growth in the global PC industry has slowed considerably and sales are expected to be declining by 2016. Though Apple has slightly increased its global unit market share from 10 to 12 percent, the company should be concerned that this product is becoming a_____.

- A. question mark
- B. star
- C. hedgehog
- D. cash cow
- E. dog

212. Apple entered the MP3 player market with its iPod in 2001 and by 2014 it had a 70 percent share of this market. However, global MP3 music player unit sales over the past few years have fallen dramatically and are expected to decline further by 2016 as smartphones continue to replace MP3 devices. In addition, MP3 sales may be adversely impacted with the expected launch of wearable digital watches. Currently, Apple's iPod SBU appears to be a_____.

- A. question mark
- B. star
- C. hedgehog
- D. cash cow
- E. dog

213. Apple launched its revolutionary iPhone in 2007 as the first smartphone that used a multi-touch user interface. iPhone unit sales were explosive at first but have now leveled off, leaving Apple with just 15 percent market share compared to Samsung's 41 percent. Through 2017, the smartphone market is expected to remain healthy and grow at a compound annual rate of 13 percent due to dropping prices. Apple's iPod SBU appears to be a _____.

- A. question mark
- B. raptor
- C. hedgehog
- D. cash cow
- E. dog

214. Apple launched the iPad in 2010, and unit sales reached an astonishing 40 percent market share in the tablet industry by 2013, leading both Samsung's Galaxy (18 percent) and Amazon's Kindle (4 percent). Global tablet unit sales are expected to more than double by 2016 as consumers continue to switch from desktops and laptop PCs. Currently, Apple's iPad SBU appears to be a _____.

- A. question mark
- B. star
- C. hedgehog
- D. cash cow
- E. dog

215. One of the strengths inherent in the use of the BCG business portfolio analysis is that it

- A. is based solely on company perception rather than actual data.
- B. considers all factors that might impact an SBU's value to an organization.
- C. acts as a strong motivational tool for employees in SBUs that have been labeled "dogs" or "question marks."
- D. forces a firm to place each of its SBUs in the growth-share matrix, which in turn suggests which SBUs will be cash producers or cash users in the future.
- E. identifies specific marketing strategies and marketing tactics on how to solve SBU shortcomings.

216. One of the weaknesses inherent in the use of the BCG business portfolio analysis is that it

- A. causes dissension between different divisions when one is labeled a "star" and another a "dog."
- B. reduces employee motivation to move a low valued SBU to a higher one.
- C. considers too many SBU factors beyond market growth rate and relative market share.
- D. does not require sales forecasts in order to be implemented.
- E. is often difficult to obtain the needed information to correctly place SBUs in the matrix.

217. A technique that helps a firm search for growth opportunities from among current and new markets as well as current and new products is referred to as_____.

- A. diversification analysis
- B. business portfolio analysis
- C. a market-product grid framework
- D. synergy analysis
- E. market segmentation

218. Diversification analysis refers to

- A. a technique that seeks opportunities by finding the optimum balance between marketing efficiencies versus R&D-manufacturing efficiencies.
- B. a framework to relate the market segments of potential buyers to products offered or potential marketing actions by an organization.
- C. a technique that helps a firm search for growth opportunities from among current and new markets as well as current and new products.
- D. a technique used to determine the appeal of each SBU or offering and then the amount of cash, if any, each should receive.
- E. a framework that identifies four "generic" strategies to achieve a competitive advantage.

219. Which of the following statements regarding diversification analysis is most accurate?

- A. Companies should only use diversification analysis if they are well-established; new companies that use this process run the risk of trying to do too much too soon.
- B. For any product, there is both a current and a new market; for any market, there is both a current and a new product.
- C. Most companies discover that there is at least one product that is targeted to the wrong market.
- D. Diversification analysis is only effective for consumer products.
- E. Diversification analysis is used to forecast and calculate industry sales for new products.

220. A marketing strategy to increase sales of current products in current markets is referred to as

- A. market penetration.
- B. market development.
- C. product development.
- D. diversification.
- E. marketing synergy.

221. Market penetration refers to the marketing strategy of

- A. selling current products to new markets.
- B. selling new products to new markets.
- C. selling new products to current markets.
- D. selling the same brands in both current and new markets.
- E. increasing sales of current products in current markets.

222. One way a company can benefit from implementing a market penetration strategy would be to

- A. sell more products at a lower price in new markets.
- B. sell the same amount of product at a higher price in the same market.
- C. find a new market and sell the product at a much higher price.
- D. alter the product and sell it to a new market.
- E. reduce promotion and distribution costs to improve production efficiencies for the product in reaching new markets.

223. When using a _____ strategy, there is no change in either the basic product line or the markets served. Instead, increased sales are generated by selling either more products through better promotion or distribution or the same number of products at a higher price.

- A. product development
- B. market development
- C. diversification
- D. market saturation
- E. market penetration

224. If Ben & Jerry's sold more units of its Bonnaroo Buzz Fair Trade-sourced super premium ice cream to U.S. consumers as a result of increased promotion while keeping its price per pint the same, it would be using a _____ strategy.

- A. product development
- B. market development
- C. market penetration
- D. diversification
- E. market saturation

225. If sales revenues for Starbucks VIA Ready Brew instant coffee sold to U.S. consumers increased as a result of a slight price increase of $0.25 per pack, it would be using a _____ strategy.

- A. product development
- B. market development
- C. market penetration
- D. diversification
- E. market saturation

226. The marketing strategy to sell current products to new markets is referred to as _____.

- A. market penetration

227. Market development refers to the marketing strategy of

- A. increasing sales of current products in current markets.
- B. selling new products to new markets.
- C. selling new products to current markets.
- D. selling the same brands in both current and new markets.
- E. selling current products to new markets.

228. If Ben & Jerry's starts selling Bonnaroo Buzz Fair Trade-sourced super premium ice cream in Brazil for the first time, it will be using a _____ strategy.

- A. product development
- B. market development
- C. diversification
- D. market saturation
- E. market penetration

229. Part of the growth strategy for Yum! Brands, the parent company of KFC, Pizza Hut, and Taco Bell, is expansion of its current fast food businesses into new markets, such as China, Russia, and India. This type of expansion would be a _____ strategy.

- A. product development
- B. market penetration
- C. diversification
- D. market development
- E. market saturation

230. The marketing strategy of selling new products to current markets is referred to as _____.

- A. product penetration
- B. product development
- C. market development
- D. diversification
- E. market penetration

231. Product development refers to the marketing strategy of

- A. increasing sales of current products in current markets.
- B. selling current products to new markets.
- C. selling new products to new markets.
- D. selling new products to current markets.
- E. selling the same brands in both current and new markets.

232. If Ben & Jerry's sold a line of new "Get the Dough Out of Politics" T-shirts targeted to college students in the U.S., it would be using a _____ strategy.

- A. product development
- B. market development
- C. market penetration
- D. diversification
- E. market saturation

233. When Starbucks announced that it would release a new single-serve Verismo high-pressure brewing machines sale in its U.S. outlets, it was using a _____ strategy.

- A. product development
- B. market development
- C. market penetration
- D. diversification
- E. market saturation

234. The marketing strategy of developing new products and selling them in new markets is referred to as

- A. product penetration
- B. product development

238. The image depicted in Figure 2-5 above represents what strategic analysis technique?

- A. Gantt chart
- B. SWOT analysis
- C. Pert chart
- D. BCG growth-share matrix
- E. diversification analysis

239. Quadrant A in Figure 2-5 above represents the marketing strategy of _____.

- A. market penetration
- B. product development
- C. market development
- D. product penetration
- E. diversification

240. Consider Figure 2-5 above. A family owns a gelato business in a small town square next to a park, a favorite place for parents and children to stop on their way home from work or school. However, the business owner is barely making ends meet. He experiments by purchasing large take-home containers so customers can not only not only consume gelato in the park but also enjoy it after dinner at home. Sales of gelato soar and profits begin to rise. This is an example of a _____ strategy that would be found in quadrant _____.

- A. product penetration; A
- B. market penetration; A
- C. product development; B
- D. market development; B
- E. market development; C

241. Quadrant B in Figure 2-5 above represents the marketing strategy of _____.

- A. "How do our results compare with our plans?"
- B. "How do we allocate our resources to get where we want to go?"
- C. "Where do we want to go?"
- D. "Do deviations require new plans?"
- E. "How do we convert our plans into actions?"

253. Within the strategic marketing process, the _____ is the result of the planning phase that proceeds to the implementation phase where it is carried out.

- A. marketing tactics
- B. business plan
- C. product protocol
- D. marketing plan
- E. marketing strategy

254. The key steps of planning, implementation, and evaluation are part of (the)

- A. gap analysis.
- B. strategic marketing process.
- C. situational analysis.
- D. synergy analysis.
- E. diversification analysis.

255. What are the three steps involved in the planning phase of the strategic marketing process?

- A. Step 1: situation (SWOT) analysis; Step 2: market-product focus and goal setting; and Step 3: the marketing program
- B. Step 1: analysis; Step 2: planning; and Step 3: implementation
- C. Step 1: set market and product goals; Step 2: select target markets and find points of difference; and Step 3: position the product
- D. Step 1: identify industry trends; Step 2: analyze competitors; and Step 3: assess own organization
- E. Step 1: Why do we exist?; Step 2: What will we do?; and Step 3: How will we do it?

256. The initial step in the strategic marketing process is to begin planning by conducting a

- A. business portfolio analysis.
- B. market-product analysis and setting goals.
- C. marketing program.
- D. situation (SWOT) analysis.

258. Step 2 in the planning phase of the strategic marketing process consists of

- A. the situation (SWOT) analysis.
- B. market-product focus and goal setting.
- C. the marketing program.
- D. business portfolio analysis.
- E. diversification analysis.

259. Step 3 in the planning phase of the strategic marketing process consists of

- A. diversification analysis.
- B. the situation (SWOT) analysis.
- C. the marketing program.
- D. the market-product focus and goal setting.
- E. business portfolio analysis.

260. Taking stock of where the firm or product has been recently, where it is now, and where it is headed in terms of the organization's marketing plans and the external forces and trends affecting it is referred to as _____.

- A. tactical planning
- B. market planning
- C. goal setting
- D. environmental scanning
- E. situation analysis

261A A situation analysis refers to

- A. taking stock of where the firm or product has been recently, where it is now, and where it is headed in terms of the organization's marketing plans and the external forces and trends affecting it.
- B. an appraisal of an organization's cash flow and financial ratios to assess its health and the potential for new investment.

- E. the process where a firm searches for growth opportunities from among current and new markets as well as current and new products.

262. A situation analysis requires a firm to consider the external forces and trends that affect it. Some of these may be favorable to the organization while others may be unfavorable. Which of the following is an example of an external force?

- A. The firm buys its own fleet of trucks, so it no longer needs to hire a trucking company for distribution.
- B. A hiring freeze is put into place. Although no one is fired, no one can be hired.
- C. A goal is set to close the gap between production costs and profits.
- D. A local government requires that all businesses within the city limits must recycle or be fined.
- E. Shareholders are rewarded with a sizeable dividend check.

263. The acronym SWOT, as in SWOT analysis, stands for _____.

- A. strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and tactics
- B. strengths, weaknesses, options, and tactics
- C. strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats
- D. simple, workable, optimal, and timely
- E. state the problem, work out a strategy, organize your team, and take action

264. An effective summary tool for an organization's situation analysis is referred to as (a) _____.

- A. SWOT analysis
- B. strategic management planning
- C. environmental scanning
- D. market-product grid analysis
- E. marginal analysis

265. In the 1980s, a lapse in production quality and an increase in Japanese imports drove the Harley-Davidson motorcycle company to the brink of bankruptcy. The company's share of the U.S. super heavy-weight market segment - motorcycles with engine capacity of 850 cubic centimeters or more - shrunk from over 40 percent in the mid 1970s to 23 percent in 1983. But by 1989, Harley-Davidson controlled some 65 percent of this market segment. From a marketing perspective, what was the most likely first step in Harley-Davidson's resurgence?

- A. developing a new mission statement
- B. repositioning its products in the minds of super heavy-weight motorcycle buyers
- C. performing a SWOT analysis to assess the firm's internal and external environments.
- D. selling new models of super heavy-weight motorcycles in both the U.S. (current) and foreign (new) markets
- E. improving the quality of its products and communicating this to motorcycle buyers

266. Procter & Gamble (P&G) is a consumer packaged goods company where innovation is a key competitive advantage. This allows the firm to develop new products like Crest Whitestrips that consumers crave. P&G also uses its marketing expertise to develop unique product placements on television shows that highlight its brands. A SWOT analysis for P&G would indicate that innovation in product design and marketing is a(n) _____ for the firm.

- A. strength
- B. weakness
- C. threat
- D. opportunity
- E. problem

267. A recent Congressional initiative mandated that the U.S. Department of Transportation (USDOT) establish a national traffic information collection system. The marketing manager of a company that provided traffic reports for local radio stations would most likely incorporate this knowledge into its SWOT analysis as

- A. a weakness if the company has an existing working relationship with the USDOT.
- B. an opportunity if the USDOT will give this information directly to all radio stations.
- C. a weakness if the company that provides local traffic information has no employees who are technologically capable of using the USDOT system.
- D. a threat if the USDOT does not have resources to interpret data for regional traffic areas.
- E. part of a marketing plan; this information would not be part of a SWOT analysis.

271. Consider Figure 2-7 above. A Florida-based flashlight company has been extremely successful due in part to the number of hurricanes in Florida that result in power outages. The firm is thinking of expanding its product offerings to include other emergency supplies such as generators and survival kits (consisting of food bars, a water filtration system, first aid supplies, etc.). Before going ahead with this decision, there were several factors that had to be taken into consideration: (1) The firm has a great reputation with its flashlights and does not want to ruin it. (2) Its physical plant could be refitted relatively easily to make small generators, but it would be rather costly. (3) It would have to rely on another firm to manufacture and package the survival kits. (4) Although there are nine named hurricanes anticipated for the upcoming year, no one really can predict what will happen. The company's reputation would fall in which quadrant(s) of the SWOT analysis grid?

- A. A
- B. B
- C. C
- D. D
- E. Both A and C

204. (p. 33) While hybrid vehicles are very fuel efficient, they are also expensive to purchase. Still, hybrid vehicles sales have a compound annual growth rate of 88.6% in recent years. Several years ago, the Honda Motor Company unveiled the hybrid version of the Honda Civic. Sales of the Civic eventually surpassed those of the Toyota Prius, making it the number one hybrid car in the U.S. For years, Honda has experienced tremendous success with their Accords; these Honda cars are the top-selling automobiles in the U.S. Where would the Honda Civic (hybrid version) and the Honda Accord fall in the BCG business portfolio analysis matrix?

- A. The hybrid Civic is a star; the Accord is a cash cow.
- B. The hybrid Civic is a cash cow; the Accord is a star.
- C. Due to the overwhelming success of Honda cars, both the Accord and the hybrid Civic are cash cows.
- D. The hybrid Civic is a dog; the Accord is a cash cow.
- E. The hybrid Civic is a dog; the Accord is a star.

The BCG growth-share matrix is based upon market growth rate and market share. The hybrid car market is a high growth market. The Honda Civic hybrid has high market share of this market. The vehicle will require large injections of cash from other products in the Honda line to maintain or increase market share. As a result, the Honda Civic hybrid is a star. The Honda Accord is well established in a slower-growth market and controls a significant percentage of market share. Thus, the Accord is a cash cow for Honda and the revenues generated from these cars will be used to finance the marketing of the hybrid Civic, the star. See Figure 2-4.

274. Consider Figure 2-7 above. A Florida-based flashlight company has been extremely successful due in part to the number of hurricanes in Florida that result in a loss of power. The firm is thinking of expanding its product offerings to include other emergency supplies such as generators and survival kits. Before going ahead with this decision, there were several factors that had to be taken into consideration: (1) The firm has a great reputation with its flashlights and doesn't want to ruin it. (2) Its physical plant could be refitted relatively easily to make small generators, but it would be rather costly. (3) It would have to rely on another firm to manufacture and package the survival kits. (4) Although there are nine named hurricanes scheduled for the upcoming year, no one really can predict what will happen. The need to rely on another company to supply the survival kits would fall in which quadrant(s) of the SWOT analysis grid?

- A. A
- B. B
- C. C
- D. D
- E. C and D

The need to rely on another company to supply the survival kits potentially represents an external unfavorable factor. The flashlight firm would have to rely on an outside source supplier over which they would have limited control (deadlines, quality control, changes in materials costs, etc.) and there is a greater potential of competition from other sources that provide the materials in the kit. Therefore, quadrant D is the correct answer. See Figure 2-7.

- A. Buy ads in all the major trade journals that explain the variety of surfaces available and what uses each has.
- B. Communicate using direct mail about the various walking surfaces Schofield can create for contractors who are building riding and walking paths.
- C. Design a sample ad and test it using visitors at a trade show.
- D. Hire six new sales representatives for the Midwest regional office and train them on all aspects of concrete surfaces.
- E. Conduct a focus group to decide on which surface to use for a theme park in Brazil.

Communications with contractors is the only answer that both identifies a target market (contractors building riding and walking paths) and describes the marketing program to reach it (direct mail to communicate the variety of surfaces). ## Short Answer Questions

342. Using Figure 2-1 above, identify and briefly describe the five levels in a hierarchical organizational structure, including the three that are strategic in nature. (p. 25-26)

The five levels (three of which are strategic) of structure typically found in large organizations are: (1) "A" identifies the Board of directors, which oversees the three levels of strategy in organizations (corporate, business unit, and functional). (2) "B" identifies the corporate level, where the top management directs overall strategy for the entire organization. (3) "C" identifies the strategic business unit level, where managers set a more specific direction for their SBUs (a subsidiary, division, or unit of an organization that markets a set of related offerings to a clearly defined group of customers) to exploit value-creating opportunities. (4) "D" identifies the functional level, where groups of specialists actually create value for the organization. (5) "E" identifies the departments, which are the specialized functions such as information systems, finance, research and development, marketing, manufacturing and human resources that implement the corporate strategies developed by the organization.

346. Explain what a visionary organization is and the three questions (why, what, and how) that need to be answered that formulate its strategies.
(p. 26-29)

Management experts stress that to be successful, today's organizations must be visionary - anticipating future events and responding to them quickly and effectively. This requires a visionary organization to specify its foundation (why), set a direction (what), and formulate strategies (how). An organization's foundation is its philosophical reason for being - why it exists. So, its senior managers must identify its core values and describe its mission and organizational culture - its purpose for being. Next, these managers can set the direction for the organization by defining its business and specifying its long-term and short-term goals. Finally, the firm uses the previous two pieces to formulate its strategies, which vary in at least two ways, partly depending on the level in the organization and the offerings it provides customers. 353. The American railroad industry faced a serious decline in the 20th century. What business did (p. 28) rail executives believe they were in at that time? What business is a railroad company really in? Why is the difference important?

In his famous Marketing Myopia article, Theodore Levitt argues that senior managers of 20th century American railroads defined their businesses too narrowly by proclaiming, "We are in the railroad business!" This myopic view caused these managers to lose sight of who their customers were and what they needed. Thus, railroad managers only saw other railroads as their direct competitors and failed to develop strategies to compete with airlines, barges, pipelines, and trucks - firms whose offerings carry both goods and people. As a result, many railroads either were forced to merge with other railroads (or other firms) or went bankrupt. Railroads would have fared better if they had realized they were in the transportation business.

354. Name and briefly describe the seven types of organizational goals or objectives.
(p. 28)

The seven types of organizational goals or objectives are: (1) Profit. Economic theory assumes a firm seeks to maximize long-run profit. (2) Sales (dollars or units). A firm may elect to maintain or increase its sales level, even though profitability may not be maximized. (3) Market Share. A firm may choose to maintain or increase its market share - sometimes at the expense of greater profits. (4) Quality. A firm may target the highest quality. (5) Customer Satisfaction. Customers are the reason the organization exists, so their perceptions and actions are of vital importance. (6) Employee Welfare. An organization may recognize the critical importance of its employees by having an explicit goal stating its commitment to good employment opportunities and working conditions for them. (7) Social Responsibility. A firm may seek to balance the conflicting goals of consumers, employees, and stockholders to promote overall welfare of all these groups, even at the expense of profits.

355. The logistics industry has sales of $800 billion per year. If a third party logistics provider had sales of $8 billion, what would its market share be? Be sure to define market share and show your work in your answer.
(p. 28)

Market share is the ratio of sales revenue of the firm to the total sales revenue of all firms in the industry, including the firm itself. In this case, the sales of the firm itself ($8 billion) divided by the sales revenue of all firms in the industry - including the firm itself - ($800 billion) means that the third party logistics provider in question has a 1% market share ( $$8 \text{ billion} \div $800 \text{ billion} = 1 \text{ percent}$ ).

356. Define marketing dashboard and marketing metric and explain how these terms are related.
(p. 29)

A marketing dashboard is the visual computer display of the essential information related to achieving a marketing objective. With a marketing dashboard, a marketing manager glances at a graph or table and makes a decision whether to take action or to do more analysis to better understand the problem. Each graphical or tabular display in a dashboard shows a marketing metric, which is a measure of the quantitative value or trend of a marketing activity or result.

357. Explain the difference between competencies and competitive advantage in an organizational (p. 32) setting.

An organization's core competencies are its special capabilities, including skills, technologies, and resources that distinguish it from other organizations and that provide value to its customers. Exploiting these competencies can lead to success, particularly if other organizations cannot copy them. An organization's competitive advantage is a unique strength relative to competitors that provides superior returns, often based on quality, time, cost, or innovation.

358. The Boston Consulting Group's business portfolio analysis model can be used to analyze a (p. 32-33) firm's strategic business units. How is it used and what can it tell you?

The BCG business portfolio analysis requires an organization to locate the position of each of its SBUs on a growth-share matrix (see Figure 2-4). The vertical axis is the market growth rate, which is the annual rate of growth of the SBU's industry. The horizontal axis is the relative market share, defined as the sales of the SBU divided by the sales of the largest firm in the industry. The purpose of the tool is to determine the appeal of each SBU or offering and then determine the amount of cash each should receive.

359. One of the most recognized approaches to business portfolio analysis is the Boston Consulting Group's growth-share matrix. Describe this tool and the four quadrants of the matrix. (p. 32-33)

The BCG business portfolio analysis requires an organization to locate the position of each of its SBUs on a growth-share matrix. The vertical axis is the market growth rate, which is the annual rate of growth of the SBU's industry. The horizontal axis is the relative market share, defined as the sales of the SBU divided by the sales of the largest firm in the industry. The BCG has given specific names and descriptions to the four quadrants in its growth-share matrix. They are as follows: (1) Cash Cows - (lower left quadrant) have a dominant share of a slow-growth market; they typically generate large amounts of cash to invest in other SBUs. (2) Stars - (upper left quadrant) have a high share of high-growth markets; they may not generate enough cash to support their own needs to support future growth. (3) Question Marks - (upper right quadrant) are SBUs with a low share of high-growth markets; they require large amounts of money just to maintain their market share. (4) Dogs - (lower right quadrant) have a low share of slow-growth markets; although they may generate enough cash to sustain themselves, they hold little promise of becoming winners for the firm. See Figure 2-4.

(2) Market development (B) - is a marketing strategy to sell current products to new markets. (3) Product development (C) - is a marketing strategy of selling new products to current markets. (4) Diversification (D) - is a marketing strategy of developing new products and selling them in new markets. See Figure 2-5.

361. List the three steps of the planning phase of the strategic marketing process. Briefly describe what goes on during each of the three steps. (p. 35-38)

The planning phase of the strategic marketing process includes three steps. Step 1 is the situation (SWOT) analysis. During the SWOT analysis, a company will identify industry trends, analyze competitors, assess own company, and research customers. Step 2 is market-product focus and goal setting. During Step 2, the company will set market and product goals, select target markets, find points of difference, and position the product. Step 3 is the marketing program. During this step, the company will develop the program's marketing mix and develop the budget, by estimating revenues, expenses, and profits. See Figure 2-6.

(p. 35-41)

The three phases of the strategic marketing process are: planning, implementation, and evaluation. (1) The planning phase includes: (a) situation (SWOT) analysis to identify industry trends, analyze competitors, assess own company, and research customer; (b) market-product focus and goal setting, which involves setting market and product goals, selecting target markets, finding points of difference, and positioning the product; and (c) marketing program development, which involves developing the marketing mix and the budget by estimating revenues, expenses, and profits. (2) The implementation phase involves: (a) obtaining resources; (b) designing the marketing organization; (c) defining precise tasks, responsibilities, and deadlines; and (d) executing the marketing program. (3) The evaluation phase involves: (a) comparing the results of the marketing program plans to the results achieved to identify deviations and (b) exploiting positive deviations or correcting negative ones. 363. Using Figure 2-6 above, identify and describe the three steps (A, B, and C) of the planning phase of the strategic marketing process. (p. 35-38)

A: Situation (SWOT) analysis - is an organization's appraisal of its internal strengths and weaknesses and its external opportunities and threats. B: Market-product focus and goal setting - determines which products will be directed toward which customers. This decision is often based on market segmentation, which involves aggregating prospective buyers into groups, or segments, that (1) have common needs and (2) will respond similarly to a marketing action. This enables an organization to identify the segments on which it will focus its efforts - its target market segments - and develop specific marketing programs to reach them. C: Marketing program - involves developing the program's marketing mix (the 4 Ps) and its budget.

364. Identify and describe the four factors in a SWOT analysis and give examples for Ben & Jerry's Ice Cream that help it identify the critical strategy-related factors that could impact the firm. (p. 36-37)

A SWOT analysis is an acronym that describes an organization's appraisal of its internal Strengths and Weaknesses and its external Opportunities and Threats. The four critical factors in a SWOT analysis and examples for Ben & Jerry's are: (1) internal strengths, such as its (a) prestigious, well-known brand name among U.S. consumers that complements Unilever's existing ice cream brands and (b) widely recognized social mission, values, and actions; (2) internal weaknesses, which include (a) Ben & Jerry's social responsibility actions that could reduce focus and (b) the need for experienced managers to help growth, modest sales and profits in recent years; (3) external opportunities, such as (a) the growing demand for quality ice cream in overseas markets, (b) the increasing U.S. demand for Greek-style yogurt, and (c) the many U.S. firms successfully use product and brand extensions; and (4) external threats, such as (a) consumer concern with sugary and fatty desserts, (b) competition with General Mills and Nestle brands, and (c) increasing competition in international markets. See Figure 2-7.

365. A campus service organization annually raises money through the sale of T-shirts. How could it (p. 37) use market segmentation to increase sales of the shirts? Be sure to include a definition of market segmentation in your answer.

Market segmentation involves aggregating prospective buyers into groups, or segments that (1) have common needs and (2) will respond similarly to a marketing action. Students' examples will vary. The service organization may decide to sell T-shirts to two segments: current students and local residents. A separate marketing plan should be developed for each segment since they are not necessarily identical. For example, while the price and product may be the same, the place the T-shirts are sold to students would be the campus bookstore, while local residents may buy the T-shirts in a local clothing store at a strip mall. The promotion for the shirts aimed at students may be flyers posted in the dorms and ads in the college newspaper. The promotion aimed at local residents may be an ad in the local community newspaper and flyers posted in the local grocery store.

(2) Price: list price, discounts, allowances, credit terms, and payment period. (3) Promotion: advertising, personal selling, sales promotion, public relations, and direct marketing. (p. 38)

A marketing program should include product, price, promotion, and place strategies. Students' examples will vary. The product strategy would include packaging and design of the T-shirts. Promotion strategy would encompass how the group plans to communicate information about the sale to other students. Price strategy would include the list price of the T-shirts and any quantity discounts. Place strategy would include the outlets where the T-shirts will be sold.

A Gantt chart is a graphical representation of a program schedule. Developed by Henry L. Gantt, this method is the basis for the scheduling techniques used today, including elaborate computerized methods. The key to all scheduling techniques is to distinguish tasks that must be done sequentially from those that can be done concurrently. Scheduling tasks concurrently often reduces the total time required for a project. See Figure 2-10.

370. What is the difference between a marketing strategy and a marketing tactic?
(p. 40)

A marketing strategy is the means by which a marketing goal is to be achieved, usually characterized by a specified target market and a marketing program to reach it, which implies both the end sought (target market) and the means to achieve it (marketing program). Marketing tactics, on the other hand, are detailed day-to-day operational decisions essential to the overall success of marketing strategies, such as writing advertising copy or selecting the amount for temporary price reductions.

371. Explain the steps in the evaluation phase of the strategic marketing process.
(p. 41)

The evaluation phase of the strategic marketing process ties results and actions to goals. Marketing dashboards and marketing metrics are often used to compare goals and results and identify deviations. The causes of the deviations are then quantified and new plans and actions are formulated to exploit opportunities and correct problems. This information is fed back into the process to revise the goals and the marketing plan.

372. What is the purpose of the evaluation phase of the strategic marketing process? How is it (p. 41) accomplished?

The evaluation phase of the strategic marketing process seeks to keep the marketing program moving in the direction set for it. Accomplishing this requires the marketing manager to compare the results of the marketing program with goals in the written plans to identify deviations and then to act on these deviations - exploiting positive deviations and correcting negative ones.

A planning gap is the difference between the projection of the path to reach a new goal and the projection of the path of the results of a plan already in place. The ultimate purpose of the firm's marketing program is to fill in this planning gap. This means planning and implementing more aggressive tactics that will allow the new results to meet the new goal.
