24) Canadian GAAS (including the CICA Handbook) are the authoritative standards for the conduct of financial statement audits in Canada. How would this affect the audit of a Canadian company that is owned by a Swedish company that must also report using Swedish (International) auditing standards?

Answer:

- the audit of the foreign subsidiary must be conducted using Canadian GAAS
- as long as the audit complies with Canadian GAAS, it may also be conducted in accordance with international GAAS
- the auditor may report that the audit was conducted using both Canadian and Swedish (International) GAAS
- Canadian GAAS would be the floor (or minimum standards)
- differences between the two sets of standards may need to be identified
- where there are differences between the two sets of standards, the auditor should follow Canadian reporting standards
- the CICA Handbook takes precedence over the ISAs when there is a conflict
