Form W-4 (2016)

Purpose. Complete Form W-4 so that your employer can withhold the correct federal income tax from your pay. Consider completing a new Form W-4 each year and when your personal or financial situation changes.

Exemption from withholding. If you are exempt, complete only lines 1, 2, 3, 4, and 7 and sign the form to validate it. Your exemption for 2016 expires February 15, 2017. See Pub. 505, Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax.

Note: If another person can claim you as a dependent on his or her tax return, you cannot claim exemption from withholding if your income exceeds $1,050 and includes more than $350 of unearned income (for example, interest and dividends).

Exceptions. An employee may be able to claim exemption from withholding even if the employee is a dependent, if the employee:

- Is age 65 or older.
- Is blind, or
- Will claim adjustments to income; tax credits; or itemized deductions, on his or her tax return.

The exceptions do not apply to supplemental wages greater than $1,000,000.

Basic instructions. If you are not exempt, complete the Personal Allowances Worksheet below. The worksheets on page 2 further adjust your withholding allowances based on itemized deductions, certain credits, adjustments to income, or two-earners/multiple jobs situations.

Complete all worksheets that apply. However, you may claim fewer (or zero) allowances. For regular wages, withholding must be based on allowances you claimed and may not be a flat amount or percentage of wages.

Head of household. Generally, you can claim head of household filing status on your tax return only if you are unmarried and pay more than 50% of the costs of keeping up a home for yourself and your dependent(s) or other qualifying individuals. See Pub. 501, Exemptions, Standard Deduction, and Filing Information, for information.

Tax credits. You can take projected tax credits into account in figuring your allowable number of withholding allowances. Credits for child or dependent care expenses and the child tax credit may be claimed using the Personal Allowances Worksheet below. See Pub. 505 for information on converting your other credits into withholding allowances.

Nonwage income. If you have a large amount of nonwage income, such as interest or dividends, consider making estimated tax payments using Form 1040-ES, Estimated Tax for Individuals. Otherwise, you may owe additional tax. If you have pension or annuity income, see Pub. 505 to find out if you should adjust your withholding on Form W-4 or W-4P.

Two earners or multiple jobs. If you have a working spouse or more than one job, figure the total number of allowances you are entitled to claim on all jobs using worksheets from only one Form W-4. Your withholding usually will be most accurate when all allowances are claimed on the Form W-4 for the highest paying job and zero allowances are claimed on the others. See Pub. 506 for details.

Nonresident alien. If you are a nonresident alien, see Notice 1392, Supplemental Form W-4 Instructions for Nonresident Aliens, before completing this form.

Check your withholding. After your Form W-4 takes effect, use Pub. 505 to see how the amount you are having withheld compares to your projected total tax for 2016. See Pub. 505, especially if your earnings exceed $130,000 (Single) or $160,000 (Married).

Future developments. Information about any future developments affecting Form W-4 (such as legislation enacted after we release it) will be posted at www.irs.gov/W4.

PROBLEM SET B

(NOTE: The textbook presentation of Problems 1 to 10 allows for open-ended student responses. For solutions to the Connect versions of the Set B Problems, refer to Page 41.)

P2-1B. Sandy is an independent contractor who is new to your company. Should you assign her compensation to the payroll clerk or to the accounts payable department? Explain.

- a. Independent contractors are most frequently treated as a vendor and would be sent to accounts payable. However, depending upon specific requirements, Sandy could be classified as a statutory employee.

P2-2B. Frank was terminated for cause from Pineland Industries in Georgia, on August 21, 2016. As of the date of his termination, he had accrued 22 hours of regular time. Employees at Pineland are paid semimonthly on the 15th and last day of the month. Frank would like to know when he will be paid for the accrued hours. What will you tell him?

- a. Georgia does not have specific termination requirements for the processing; the company will probably choose to issue the check with standard payroll. Depending upon the company policy and employee agreement, the vacation and sick time may be included.

P2-3B. Quinn, a member of the Menominee Indian nation, is a new employee at Raven Enterprises. During the process of completing his I-9, his only means of identity is a Menominee Nation identification document. Is this document sufficient to verify his employment eligibility? Explain.

- a. The Menominee Nation identification card would only be one part of the qualifications (falling under type C). A secondary form (from type B) would be necessary.

P2-4B. Carol is a new employee of Eartheon Batteries. She is curious about the purpose of the requirements for new hire documentation to be forwarded to government agencies. What should you tell her?

a. Reporting creates a registry to monitor child support obligations, tracks immigration to ensure individuals are legal to work in the United States, ensures that individuals in professions that can have sanctions are legally able to continue to work, finally to enable the tracking of COBRA benefits.

P2-5B. Levon wants to start his own company. As a seasoned payroll professional, he approaches you for guidance about the differences between weekly, biweekly, and semimonthly pay periods. What would you tell him?

a. Weekly payroll is where individuals will receive 52 paychecks per year and are suited for companies that are small – construction or professional entities. Biweekly payroll is where individuals will receive 26 paychecks per year processed every two weeks and is one of the more common pay periods, occasionally this method may result in 27 pay periods. Semimonthly is where employees will receive 24 paychecks per year

P2-6B. Helena is a new payroll clerk for Hope Sinks and Drains. She is curious about the purpose of the different steps in the payroll review process and asks you, her supervisor, for guidance. What would you tell her?

a. The payroll review process is designed to verify the information so that employees are paid correctly and the data is correct. Starting with the employee completing their time card, the information is then verified by the manager. After the manager has agreed that the employee has accurately portrayed the hours worked, the payroll clerk will prepare the information for the manager to review and approve. Once the information has been approved, the payroll checks can be issued to the employees.

P2-7B. Pierre started as a payroll accountant at a company with 70 employees. He soon notices that the former payroll accountant had been processing payroll manually, and suggests that the company immediately switch to cloud-based payroll. Although the company is switching to an electronic payroll processing system, what types of paper documentation must be maintained in employee records?

a. Employers retain physical copies of employees' time records, pay advice, and any other documentation processed with the paycheck. Some other types of documentation include: Request for a day off; reports of tardiness or absenteeism; detailed records of work completed during that day's shift.

P2-8B. Jiana, a payroll clerk, has received a promotion and is now the payroll supervisor for her company. What document control items could now become her responsibility?

a. Payroll system security, Maintenance of paid time off (i.e., vacation, sick, etc.), Access to payroll data, Separation of duties, Training of payroll staff

P2-9B. You are in the payroll department of Yinkeng Imports, a multistate company. The company has historically been filing employee information with each state. What alternative exists for multistate employers?

a. Multistate Employer Notification Form allows centralized reporting from the Office of Management and Budget

P2-10B. Christianne is the payroll supervisor for PSN Freight. Her company is preparing to merge with another distribution company that has a different pay cycle. The president of the company wants to know the difference between biweekly and semimonthly pay cycles as far as pay dates and pay amounts. What should Christianne tell him?

a. Moving between biweekly (26 pay periods per year with the possibility of 27) to a semimonthly system (24 pay periods per year) would cause individual to see increases per pay period since there are more days being covered on the pay period under semimonthly than on biweekly. This would also result in higher taxes per pay period.

Form W-4 (2016)

Purpose. Complete Form W-4 so that your employer can withhold the correct federal income tax from your pay. Consider completing a new Form W-4 each year and when your personal or financial situation changes.

Exemption from withholding. If you are exempt, complete only lines 1, 2, 3, 4, and 7 and sign the form to validate it. Your exemption for 2016 expires February 15, 2017. See Pub. 505, Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax.

Note: If another person can claim you as a dependent on his or her tax return, you cannot claim exemption from withholding if your income exceeds $1,050 and includes more than $350 of unearned income (for example, interest and dividends).

Exceptions. An employee may be able to claim exemption from withholding even if the employee is a dependent, if the employee:

- Is age 65 or older,
- Is blind, or
- Will claim adjustments to income; tax credits; or itemized deductions, on his or her tax return.

The exceptions do not apply to supplemental wages greater than $1,000,000.

Basic instructions. If you are not exempt, complete the Personal Allowances Worksheet below. The worksheets on page 2 further adjust your withholding allowances based on itemized deductions, certain credits, adjustments to income, or two-earners/multiple jobs situations.

Complete all worksheets that apply. However, you may claim fewer (or zero) allowances. For regular wages, withholding must be based on allowances you claimed and may not be a flat amount or percentage of wages.

Head of household. Generally, you can claim head of household filing status on your tax return only if you are unmarried and pay more than 50% of the costs of keeping up a home for yourself and your dependent(s) or other qualifying individuals. See Pub. 501, Exemptions, Standard Deduction, and Filing Information, for information.

Tax credits. You can take projected tax credits into account in figuring your allowable number of withholding allowances. Credits for child or dependent care expenses and the child tax credit may be claimed using the Personal Allowances Worksheet below. See Pub. 505 for information on converting your other credits into withholding allowances.

Nonwage income. If you have a large amount of nonwage income, such as interest or dividends, consider making estimated tax payments using Form 1040-ES, Estimated Tax for Individuals. Otherwise, you may owe additional tax. If you have pension or annuity income, see Pub. 505 to find out if you should adjust your withholding on Form W-4 or W-4P.

Two earners or multiple jobs. If you have a working spouse or more than one job, figure the total number of allowances you are entitled to claim on all jobs using worksheets from only one Form W-4. Your withholding usually will be most accurate when all allowances are claimed on the Form W-4 for the highest paying job and zero allowances are claimed on the others. See Pub. 505 for details.

Nonresident alien. If you are a nonresident alien, see Notice 1392, Supplemental Form W-4 Instructions for Nonresident Aliens, before completing this form.

Check your withholding. After your Form W-4 takes effect, use Pub. 505 to see how the amount you are having withheld compares to your projected total tax for 2016. See Pub. 505, especially if your earnings exceed $130,000 (Single) or $160,000 (Married).

Future developments. Information about any future developments affecting Form W-4 (such as legislation enacted after we release it) will be posted at www.irs.gov/w4.

CRITICAL THINKING

2-1. When BirMax was looking to implement a payroll accounting system, the manufacturing firm had several options. With only 40 employees, the manual preparation of payroll through spreadsheets and handwritten time cards was a comfortable option for the firm. Another option is to sell the senior management of BirMax on implementing a software program for payroll processing. What are the key points to consider? If the company has more than one department, how can this transition be accomplished?

1. Key points that need to be included: ease of update for changes in tax laws, tax tables, and payroll regulations; ease of reporting; whether the employee self-service option would be eligible; confidentiality

2-2. You have been hired as a consultant for a company facing an IRS audit of their accounting records. During your review, you notice anomalies in the payroll system involving overpayments of labor and payments to terminated employees. What would you do?

1. When the abnormalities are discovered, the management of the company should be made aware of the situation. Since the IRS audit is imminent, documenting the date of the find and attempts to rectify the error would be advisable. Depending upon the nature of the anomalies, the company or payroll employees may have made some serious errors.

Compensation considerations

Calculations of Time: Exempt Employee

- Juan is a manager for a textiles firm. He earns $52,000 per year and is classified as an exempt employee, and is paid biweekly.
- He normally works 40 hours per week.
- In June, he worked 85 hours during one pay period and 78 hours during the next.
- He would receive his salary of $2,000 ( $$52,000/26$  periods) for each pay period, no matter how many hours he worked because he is classified as an exempt employee.

- Total pay = $2,000

Calculations of Time: Nonexempt Employee

- Monique works as an administrator at a busy hospital.
- She is paid $52,000 on a weekly basis and is classified as nonexempt.
- During one week, she worked 50 hours.
- She would earn her regular weekly wage of $1,000 ( $$52,000/52$  period) plus time and a half for the overtime hours.
- Based on a 40-hour workweek, her hourly wage is $25 ( $$52,000/(52 \times 40)$ ), so her overtime pay would be $375 (10 hours x 1.5 x $25).
- Total Pay =  $$1,000 + $375 = \underline{$1,375}$

A payroll specialist in Florida was HIV-positive, and was afraid to reveal his illness to employers. Instead, he took the money from his employer to pay for expensive medications.

- He would memorize his coworkers' usernames and passwords to create "ghost" employees.
- These ghosts' pay would go to the payroll specialist's bank account.
- He would falsify the payroll summaries he submitted for approval.
- The payroll specialist was found guilty of embezzling $112,000 before his termination.

Best Practices: Employee File Maintenance

- IRS Regulation 26 CFR 1.6001

  - Recommends labeling and storage of backups
  - Employer must guarantee auditor access

- IRS Revenue Procedure 98-25
  - Record keeping duration for employers
  - Must include payroll transaction detail
  - Record derivation of executive pay
  - All pay must be benchmarked and justified

Best Practices: Electronic Records

- Closed system
  - Access granted only to specific employees
- Record identifiers and logging
  - Marks who accessed which record and when
- Employers must monitor records for hacker activity

Best Practices: Non-Solo Effort

- More than one person involved in the generation and maintenance of payroll records
- Separation of duties
  - No single person could generate paychecks
- Documentation of employee duties
  - Provides verification of completed tasks
  - Protects employer against fraud

What a Non-Solo Payroll Department Prevents

- Terminated employees could continue to be paid via the payroll system or the funds could be subverted to someone else perpetrating the fraud.
- Sales commission plans, employee bonus plans, incentive programs are all subject to employees' and management's manipulation.
- The payroll checks distributed to employees could be stolen individually or en masse prior to their distribution.

Best Practices: Document Retention

- Regulation 26 CFR 1.6001
  - Pertains to manual and computerized records
  - Guideline is 7 years
  - Retention period begins upon final pay disbursement
    - * In the event of payroll fraud, all records must be accessible indefinitely*
  - Records for terminated employees must be kept for 7 years following separation
- Employer is responsible for all records, even when payroll is outsourced

Document retention and the U.S. Supreme Court

In 2012, the U.S. Supreme Court issued specific guidelines to the IRS about the statute of limitations for audits. In U.S. v. Home Concrete Supply, LLC, the Court directed the following guidelines about records audits:

- 3 years to assess a taxpayer's deficiency
- 6 years if the taxpayer's gross assets were understated by more than 25%
- Unlimited time if intent to commit fraud exists

L0 2-5: Discuss Employee Termination and Document Destruction Procedures

- Paper records

- Incineration
- Shredding
- Pulping
